Information regarding metal delivery/invoicing

To cast your models we need metal. This metal you can transfer to us via an account at a refinery. This is the standard for the jewellery business. In case you don't have an account with a refinery already, we can help guide you to create one.

Please choose one of the following possibilities:

(1. Delivery of fine metal or 2. Total invoice of metals)

1. Fine metal delivery

Option 1 "Self-delivery"

Option "Self-delivery"

You can transfer the metals yourself. On the bottom of your invoice you will see your current metal balance. We kindly ask you to immediately transfer metal to cover your account (within 1-3 days). In case we don't receive metals to bring your account to zero, we will send you a reminder to transfer the metals. If we still don't receive the metals, we will issue an invoice for the metals owed instead. When an invoice has been issued, it is no longer possible to reverse it and deliver metals instead.

or

Option 2 "Direct debit"

Option "Direct debit"

You issue us a power of attorney to withdraw metals from your metal account at your refinery. We transmit your metal account stand to your refinery 1-2 times a month, and withdraw metals to bring your account back to zero.

It is imperative that you make sure there is metal on your account at your refinery to cover your orders. If you wish to transfer metal via direct debit, please let us know from wich refinery and what your account number is. Then we will provide you with the correct power of attorney form for you to complete and return to us.

2. Total invoice

Total invoice

For this option we simply issue an invoice for the metals. However, we would like to point out to you that our price is above the current daily rate, but independent of the quantity ordered. The price also includes alloying costs for the production of the alloys.
